cannot give you a more positive response! I commend you on automatically handling the posting so well and promptly. Your service is invaluable, especially in this time where the Oceans need so much help.” Jeremy Raynor, Coral Restoration Project Coordinator, The Amiga Island Ecological Foundation

Super blog by Reef Divers telling you why “Wise Work Job Board is your source for Marine Conservation Opportunities Around the World”. “You have some great opportunities on your Wise Work section, and I wish I would have known about this job board before! As a PADI instructor, we have access to a large employment board filled with tropical diving jobs. However, the conservation jobs are few and far between. WiseWorks narrows down the opportunities and temps me to get back out to sea.” Nicole Helgason, Reef Divers

“Thank you for hosting our internship posts this year, I hope to continue utilizing WiseOceans as a resource to advertise our internships at the Aquarium of the Pacific.” James Stewart, Education Coordinator, Aquarium of the Pacific

“WiseOceans is an excellent resource for anyone with an interest in taking care of our precious marine environment. Showcasing the best opportunities available internationally and within the UK, from charities to statutory agencies, this is a valuable resource for anyone looking to work or volunteer in the marine and coastal sector. As a small conservation charity conducting internationally renowned research, the National Lobster Hatchery is looking to attract the top personnel in the field, and the WiseOceans is a great platform from which to promote our vacancies to the right candidates.” Cat Wilding, Education Officer and Volunteer Co-ordinator, National Lobster Hatchery

“Thank you for helping promote our internship vacancy. Your website is great, will definitely recommend it to colleagues searching for jobs or internship positions in the future.” Valerie Chamberland, PhD candidate, Institute for Biodiversity and Ecosystem Dynamics (IBED), University of Amsterdam

“I am very appreciative of all of your helpwe will definitely use your site for advertising in the future!” Maren, Marine Centre, Velaa Private Island Maldives

“WiseOceans is a fantastic resource and really helped me during my search for voluntary work. Thanks to WiseOceans I successfully secured an Education Internship with the Hebridean Whale and Dolphin Trust during the summer of 2014. This was a brilliant opportunity and the experience I gained during my internship has recently helped me secure a paid position as Education Officer for the Trust. The WiseOcean's team have created a fantastic website, which brings life changing opportunities together, making them accessible for all! Definitely one to watch, for any budding marine conservationists!" Pippa Garrard, Education Officer, The Hebridean Whale and Dolphin Trust

"Love WiseOceans, found several placement opportunities and the best variety of marine science jobs." Gordon, Jobseeker

"We received 120 applicants for a volunteer post and many of these applicants applied having seen the post on WiseOceans. The standard was extremely high. We are thrilled with the response and will use WiseOceans again in the future." Operations Manager, The Manta Trust

"I've used the WiseOceans resource in the past – it's excellent, congratulations." Neil, Jobseeker

"We greatly appreciate your help in promoting our Marine Conservation Internship and would like to thank you for posting the opportunity on WiseOceans website. Thanks for helping us reach a broader range of conservation-minded individuals in the marine community!" REEF

"We've had over 95 applicants with many from people who looked at WiseOceans, thanks very much WiseOceans for your assistance." Cetacean Research Unit

"Thanks! We are getting the most amount of traffic via your website so we are very happy with your services." Lauren Sparks, Project Manager/Field Scientist, Gili Shark Conservation

"WiseOceans jobs board is fantastic!" Bridgette, Jobseeker

"Thank you very much for advertising the tour on your website, it is very much appreciated. The website is very well organised, and serving as a 'one stop shop' for events, training, jobs etc. is certainly is a good idea." Donal Griffin, Queen's University, Belfast

“WiseOceans provides me with great opportunities in entering the marine world. The website helped me find internships all over the globe.” Steven, Jobseeker

“Here at ClientEarth we use WiseOceans when looking for new staff and interns who are passionate about environmental protection. Our Biodiversity team works on a number of exciting and forward-thinking projects within marine and wildlife conservation, including Sustainable Seafood Coalition and Common Fisheries Policy. We feel that advertising vacancies with WiseOceans gives us good exposure to the audience of professionals and recent graduates alike who are looking for careers in the field.” ClientEarth

“WiseOceans is a fantastic place to advertise our GIS courses. They’re great at getting the word out there and as an advertiser the interface is really easy and intuitive to use. Add to that their friendly and helpful staff and you’ve got a superb advertising resource. Thanks WiseOceans!” burdGIS

“I had a check at the WiseOceans pages for a volunteering gig in Mexico and was so impressed with the website!! Great work.” Matt, Student,

“We advertised on WiseOceans and most of our applicants seemed to come from here (including one that we recruited) so it is certainly an effective place to advertise for a site like Aldabra.” Dr Bunbury, Science and Projects

Programme Coordinator, Seychelles Islands Foundation

“Will definitely use you all in the future”. Beth Nuttal, National Marine Sanctuary Foundation

“We had several interviews with people who heard of the position through WiseOceans – which is awesome, and many of these applicants are now going on to become members of our organisation and help with other roles.....So we couldn’t be happier! Thank you very much for helping us fill this role and connecting us with some fantastic volunteers. I will definitely let you guys know if we have other roles to fill in the near future.” Lou Ruddell, Founder/Director, Fin Fighters
